++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely cloudy with the best sunny spells in the north.

Today:
A rather cloudy start, bringing a risk of patchy light rain or drizzle in places. Clearer skies and sunny spells likely across Cumbria later on, with southern areas remaining quite cloudy throughout. Cooler than recently, although warm in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Occasional evening clear spells largely give way to thickening cloud going overnight. Outbreaks of patchy light rain or drizzle are possible, and it should remain largely frost-free. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Sunday:
A cloudy start, with some light rain or drizzle in places. Cloud will lift slightly throughout the day, allowing for the odd sunnier spell and isolated shower. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cloudy on Monday and Tuesday, with occasional outbreaks of rain, and winds increasing. A band of rain, heavy at times, moves across the region early Wednesday, with drier conditions following.
